

Wondering when you're going to see your order? Your dōTERRA account gives you the ability to track your orders once they have been shipped and assigned a tracking number. Your tracking information is updated frequently, giving you a real-time* look at where in the world your order is located!

*Tracking updates may have a slight delay depending on carrier scans.

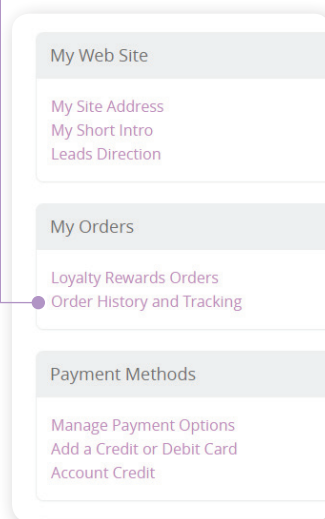

How to Track Your Order:

1. Go to your Account Profile.

Access it by clicking on your account name in the top right-hand corner of your dōTERRA account home page. This will open a drop-down menu, where you'll click "Account Profile."

2. Go to "Order History and Tracking," found in the "My Orders" section of your Account Profile, about half-way down the column.

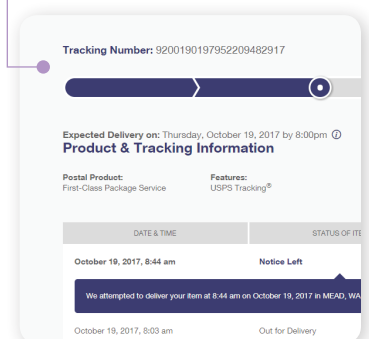

3. Click "Track Order."

This green button is found under "Tracking Number" on your Order History and Tracking page. This button will take you to the shipping carrier's website.

- If this button is not present, your shipment may have been set aside for pickup at a Product Center. Alternatively, the carrier scan may not have been updated in the system. Check back again later to see if your tracking information has been updated.

4. Review order information.

The carrier's site should show you the tracking number, shipment progress, estimated delivery date, and more!
