Other Questions

Q) Product Quality?

From the beginning, we've made it our mission to share pure, quality essential oils with the world. However, without a definitive standard for essential oil purity, dōTERRA decided to set the standard for purity in the essential oil industry.

Not all essential oil companies choose to enforce high testing standards for their oils. In fact, many companies skip important steps in the testing process in order to save money or time. Unfortunately, when proper testing measures are not taken, it's impossible to ensure that an essential oil is truly "pure."

To ensure that each bottle of essential oil is pure and free from contaminants or synthetic fillers, dōTERRA created the CPTG Certified Pure Tested Grade® protocol. The CPTG process includes a rigorous examination of every batch of oil, along with third-party testing to guarantee transparency.

Q) How do I know that the email order has been completed and receive the order number and bill of lading number?

Once the order is processed, we will reply via email with an order number. If you need the pick-up number, please contact our customer service.
