

SOURCED FROM:

FUN FACT

Hinoki is often used as a building material for temples, shrines, and palaces in Japan, as well as in the Japanese plant art of bonsai.

WHAT IT TAKES TO MAKE A BOTTLE:

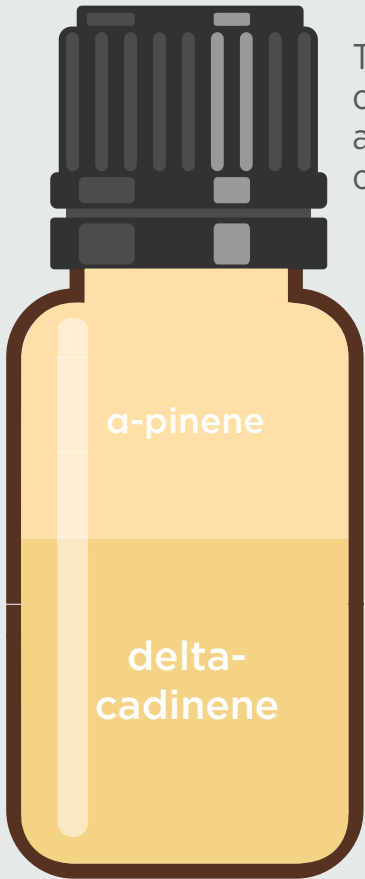

=

0.5 LBS*

It takes approximately half a pound of hinoki wood to produce 5 mL of Hinoki essential oil.*

CHEMISTRY:

The main chemical constituents and associated benefits of hinoki are:

relaxing

soothing

Graph represents chemical compounds most prevalent in this essential oil. Additional constituents may be found.

RESEARCH:

10+

Published studies on the benefits of hinoki

Numbers according to PubMed as of September 2019.

FUN FACT

dōTERRA Hinoki is sourced in Japan from the by-product of the timber industry, overseen by Japan’s forest management programs.

WORKS WELL WITH:

